'Recall' ruled unconstitutional

BYU Attorney General Lammel K. S., Jr. has labeled the "Recall Walton" issue as "unconstitutional" and says he recommends "that the ASBYU Supreme Court issue a permanent injunction against the petition as presently stated."

However, petitioners, who have amassed over 2,000 signatures urging a vote to remove ASBYU President Brian Cameron and Executive Vice President Jon Nixon from office, maintain the issue is legal under Article II Section 1 of the ASBYU Constitution, and will present the petitions to the Executive Council later this week, according to David Handy, one of the key sources.

Attorney General Harris, in a statement on page two of today's Universe, says he is preparing a brief to the ASBYU Supreme Court on the issue. He is critical of "conflicting and false information given by those circulating the petitions."

He adds that "those circulating the petitions have not conformed to the procedures for presenting such a petition in the framework of the ASBYU Constitution."

According to Handy, the Constitution says nothing about when and where petition signatures and student numbers are to be verified, "so we contacted Dean Cameron and he told us to bring the petitions to him first and he would give them back to us to present to the Executive Council."

Dean Cameron confirmed that he had reviewed the petitions and that his office was verifying the signatures and student numbers. He said they anticipate finishing the checking by Monday afternoon or early Tuesday.

Handy said he and other petition leaders turned in some 1,500 names to Dean Cameron's office Friday morning—24 hours after the "Recall Walton" campaign was publicly launched on campus.

Article I Section 1A3 stipulates that a petition presented to the Executive Council "to cause a bill to be submitted to the student association for referendum" must carry five per cent of the student body which is approximately 1251, according to Dean Cameron.

Attorney General Harris also terms the petition unconstitutional because "there is no provision in the Constitution for a recall election of any ASBYU officer."

Handy says "This (the movement) isn't calling for a recall, since there are no provisions for a recall in the constitution," but it is calling for a referendum, or a "vote on the immediate removal from office of the present student body president . . . and executive vice president."

The controversy stems from the signing by Walton and Ferguson of a pamphlet suggesting alternatives to military service and the recent establishment of a commission of student affairs to draw up Bill of Rights.

Elder Hinckley at Devotional

Elder Gordon B. Hinckley, a member of the Council of the Twelve of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will speak at Devotional Tuesday. He is expected to speak on the Church and military.

Elder Hinckley was called to serve on the Council of the Twelve in 1961. Prior to that time he served as an assistant to the Council for three years and as secretary of the Radio Publicity and Mission Literature Committee of the Church. He presently is director of KSL, Inc., and Deseret New Publishing Company.

He has written five books as well as numerous Church study manuals, pamphlets, and radio and film scripts.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LEAFLET SUPPORT

Editor:

We would like to go on record as supporting those who put out the pamphlet "An Important Message to the Men of BYU".

The First Presidency prophetically denounced the idea of a universal military conscription back in 1946. Now, in 1973, we are faced with the frame of such an awesome war machine as we struggle to disengage ourselves from foreign entanglements that threaten to pull us under.

It is hoped that we as Christians of the world will unite in the love and spirit that will build the Zion as mentioned in the scriptures.

"And it shall come to pass among the wicked, that every man that will not take his sword against his neighbor must needs flee unto Zion for safety. And they shall gather together out of every nation under heaven, and it shall be the only people that shall not be eternally one with another." (ID. & C. 45:68-69).

Admittedly this is not the prevailing attitude amongst those at BYU. But if this generation is to have anything to do with the establishing of Zion back in Missouri, then we had best heed to the council and advice such as that given in the pamphlet.

It might well be the most important message that the men of BYU will ever receive.

PEACEFUL ALTERNATIVES

Editor:

This letter is in response to an editorial printed Nov. 5 by Bruce Wilson urging a recall of Brian Walton and Jon Ferguson.

First, may we serve God only through joining ROTC and the Armed Forces? Is this all that those who oppose our ideas? What is so wicked about serving God and our fellow men through VISTA, Peace Corps, or other Service Organizations? Wilson evidently missed the message "An Important Message to the Men of BYU". He also misquoted the title of the pamphlet.

The pamphlet never suggests that we should not support our country or visiting our neighbors to the north or showing loyalty to our country in any way. It merely suggested alternative organizations through which we may serve our country and our brothers.

Walton's response to BYU as if it is a perfect utopian society—it simply is not. It is far better than many societies on many universities around the country, but it can be improved. The question is how we improve it.

The Student Government has made some suggestions—I find these suggestions favorable. I feel they will improve conditions at BYU.

I support Brian Walton and Jon Ferguson and appreciate their efforts.

SHINING LIGHT

Editor:

Let it "be clear" that I unequivocally regard Bruce Wilson's editorial and proposal as unadulterated nonsense. Furthermore, let me be clear that I only support Brian Walton and Ferguson, but done in the past and doing more now, but encourage his efforts in the future.

The "shining light" phenomenon which Wilson so emphatically emphasized throughout yesterday's editorial never glowed with such a lack of intelligence.

Wilson's editorial is a presumptuous exaggeration and flagrant misrepresentation of the attitudes and sentiments of the students here at BYU.

It implicitly implies consensus as well as reciprocity in love, appreciation, and understanding. Be sure to acknowledge that consensus might be no more than the product of oppression. Be sure to acknowledge that consensus might have been achieved through apathy of members, (ie student body elections). Be sure to acknowledge that conflict is the energizer of creativity. Be sure to acknowledge that conflict is the great innovator of change, challenge, and progress, be sure to acknowledge that it is the social innovators which are persecuted ever too quickly for challenging or testing the preservation of the status quo.

In regard to reciprocity, Wilson's intent is in itself, indicative of the lack of mutual appreciation which he

there. Missionary work can be done in the peaceful organizations as well as in the violent ones; we do not NEED the military to help us save souls.

In passing, we also strongly recommend to those students who are seriously interested in our position in Vietnam that they read "The Status in Vietnam by Kahn and Lewis. By way of recommendation, Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., states, "This most useful work is indispensable for an understanding of the perplexities and perils of our involvement in Vietnam." I find it difficult to discuss with or doubtful worth alternative channels ought to be considered.

It is true that the McKay statement is taken out of context. It is also true that the next paragraph is also taken out of context. To be completely fair to the McKay statement, we must refer to pages 20 and 21 in their entirety. Yet the second paragraph on page 206 does in no way negate the first one quoted in the pamphlet. Both were made in 1942 and had specific reference to the War in Korea. Both were clearly declared war against fascist dictators who had clearly attacked the effective use of guerrilla warfare. Rather than let the federal troops occupy Soft Lake, we were going to destroy it completely.

From 1947 to 1950 Mormons defected from the Church. Our leaders either underground or at jail were chosen to disobey civil law for our purposes. This prompted the now Rutherford Quayson to state to a Fed. Court Justice prior to sentencing 1884:

"Your Honor, I very much regret that the laws of the country that come in conflict with the laws of G but whenever they do, I shall inevitably choose to obey the laws of G. If not to express myself, I should nevertheless be of the cause I represent. (These laws are unconstitutional, of course cannot command the respect of a constitutional law.)"

"I am compelled to obey the law of the land when it comes in conflict with our convictions. Vietnam is not my case. We are supporting a communist cause which causes us to defend a weaker nation. It is stronger. It is not a case of defend free agency. And in light of the situation, how can loyalty be required during an undeclared war with doubtful objectives?"

The pamphlet is a fair warning of a man of a nation whose life there sadly mistaken. As far as relatively the '46 statement is concerned, rev. in its entirety I don't think there is any question on the feelings of the First Presidency on the subject of conscientious objection. The pamphlet accurately present the SUBSTANCE of the First Presidency's opposition to national war machine.

Let us think of how we can won the hearts of the God and serve his fellow in peace.

"And again I say unto you, ye peopple, not only to the people that smitten you, but to all people and upon an ensign of peace make proclamation of peace unto the ends of the earth" ID&C 106:38-39.

WEIGH THE ISSUES

Editor:

Due to the pamphlet distributed in our campus, many of our student make up our minds that we have been there has been discussion pertaining the righteousness of our student president and vice-president. They have accused of falsifying the words our prophets and trying to impose their own views on us. We claim that their motive for distributing the pamphlet, was only to make student weigh the issues.

Sometimes we are as men, inclined into the service without a thought of what we are doing. Entering Mifflin, now having seen three years in the Air Force, feel the armed forces of our country, self degenerated throughout training and subsequent years. You are sent to serve in a war, a war you did not start. By living in this manner, being trained killers, depriving others of their freedom, aiding and abetting the killing of innocent people within your system and not just the ones you are sent to. For our country's sake, I would defend it. But, when preventive war is waged which does not directly involve us, yet we are forced to become involved, I would not defend it and follow the orders of my commanding officer.

Only the fool enters the lion's den without knowing what a lion will do and so as potential draftable men must find out what is within the lion's den. If the lion is not a good animal, it is really good or bad. Don't believe it. WEIGH THE ISSUES, as our student president and vice-president has suggested. I commend them on their belief in fair and honest thinking.

Attorney General's statement

The following statement was prepared for the Daily Universe by ASBYU Attorney General Lennell K. Harris, Jr.:

I am presenting a brief to the ASBYU Supreme Court which will contain my position that the current "Recall Walton" petitions being circulated on campus are unconstitutional.

In support of this position I have summarized the brief into three areas: (1) Conflicting and false information has been given by those circulating the petitions. (2) Those circulating the petitions have not conformed to the procedure for presenting such a petition in the framework of the ASBYU Constitution. (3) There is no provision in the constitution for a recall election of any ASBYU officer.

Therefore it will be my recommendation that the ASBYU Supreme Court issue a permanent injunction against the petition as presently suggests characterizes the administration and the student body. I, too, want to see the shining light of freedom and justice. I do not want to see that light dimmed in the academic circles and is in need of some energizing. Using the example of campus disorder and student unrest (which seemingly does characterize our university) as a "shining light among the universities of the world" is erroneous. If BYU is ever to become a leader among the intellectual circles, it must begin now. And this does not mean subjugating the characteristics of spiritual to another i.e. intellectual.

Let us expand our world boundaries now by unlatching the shelter doors of our campus. I urge students to assist Walton in that expansion as he attempts to open those doors.

PEACEFUL MEANS

Editor:
The basic issue presented in the "Important Message to the Men of BYU" pamphlet has been ignored or clouded by arguments secondary to its purpose.

The purpose of the message, as described by Jon Ferguson, was simply to present other methods besides the military whereby we may faithfully serve our country. It is undeniable that there has been continual prodding, not only to accept a draft, but to accept a draft into ROTC.

Admittedly, the first quotation by Pres. McKay was taken out of context; it is unfortunate that this was done but surely cannot serve as an excuse for rejecting such valuable institutions as Peace VISTA, etc. Before we condemn the pamphlet, simply presented other peaceful means by which we may as our country and humanity. There is nothing immoral or unchristlike about peace loving people.

Admittedly, the first quotation by Pres. McKay was taken out of context; it is unfortunate that this was done but surely cannot serve as an excuse for rejecting such valuable institutions as Peace VISTA, etc. Before we condemn the pamphlet,

The pamphlet simply presented other peaceful means by which we may as our country and humanity. There is nothing immoral or unchristlike about peace loving people. I ask, what wrong with each individual person trying to bring about the peace ideal through peaceful means as long as we have that choice?

The argument that one should enlist in the military just for the sake of missionary work is neither here nor there. Missionary work can be done in the peaceful organizations as well as in the violent ones; we do not NEED the military to help us save souls.

In passing, we also strongly recommend to those students who are seriously interested in our position in Vietnam that they read "The Status in Vietnam by Kahn and Lewis. I find it difficult to discuss with or take seriously any judgments on Vietnam by anyone who has not read this objective history.

Conclusively, may I request those who write pamphlets with the ACTUAL MESSAGE of the pamphlet that it is perfectly moral and, may I add, honorable, to promote peace with peaceful means. The idea is that we send human beings building up and down, down! It is every man's duty to seriously consider the alternatives to the military, just as there is value in living for your country, there is also value in living for it.

PAMPHLET DEFENDED

Editor:

At times our vision becomes obscured by secondary detail, and we miss the essential point, or we fail to see the forest because the trees are in the way.

Such appears to be the case in the few students who have, through letter, reacted to the pamphlet "An Important Message to the Men of BYU." What does it say? Basically that the military role in Vietnam is questionable, and that because of its purpose.

So, admitting McKay's second paragraph on page 285, which questions the validity of the pamphlet when the truth of history is added. Our presence there is supporting a corrupt and fascist government, the very thing McKay said we should be fighting against.

Thus, the only consideration in that paragraph is the question of loyalty.

Again during the time when the statement was made, loyalty to the government in supporting a declared war against fascist was indeed justified.

Vietnam is an undeclared war, and our complicity as a nation is open to serious question. There have been reports in our history where we misused our forces. In recent times the Bay of Pigs and others.

Our secret role in disposing of the legal government of Guatemala was an atrocity. Our invasion into Mexico in 1914 was for the sole purpose of expanding our interests.

Lincoln obviously the invader, but he was a good man. He was elected to support a cause against the South.

As McKay has twice shown our disloyalty to our country when we thought it to be morally unjust.

During the Utah War of 1850-51 Orrin Porter Rockwell and Co. psych'd out Johnson's army through the most immoral and illegal means as long as we have that choice?

The argument that one should enlist are in a war.

PROCLAMING PEACEEditor

As students at BYU we have some views and feelings we would like to voice. In rebuttal to Bruce Wilson's article to recall Brian Walton and Jon Ferguson we would first like to say that the war in Vietnam is unconstitutional. There is even a law in Massachusetts that states that it is illegal to go to war, and would like to say something to another Wilson. This saying we have heard many times and now we think it applies to him. "If you don't like it leave." There are fifteen thousand students here who would like to leave. If he disagrees with our solution, he has pained many other students who feel the same way when they disagree with something that is said or a policy that is made. If this statement is not an example of a "ruler-versus-ruled" situation we would like to know what it is.

Secondly, in regards to President Walton's views on war. This is a quote from the Doctrine and Covenants, section 88, verses 14-16: "Therefore, let my people go, that they may have freedom in my heart, with the Lord, that I will prove you in all things, whether you will abide in my covenant, even unto death; that you may be found worthy." If for ye will be found worthy, then you are not worthy of me. Therefore, remain diligent and problem peace, and seek diligently to turn the hearts of the children to their fathers, and the hearts of the fathers to their sons. Believe me, it is important of taking the rest of context, we will freely admit it. Anything is taken out of context when the entire sentence is not quoted. For this reason, we enjoin upon any reader, that they think we are definitely misinterpreting the intent of God for us over here to read the 88th Section of the Doctrine and Covenants, and to read in the introduction--THE SAINTS TO PROCLAIM PEACE.

Now before this argument is brought up concerning the Law of the Land which is forever quoted by those in The Church who support the war in Vietnam, a quote from another part of Section 98 in the D&C, verses 5-11: And that land of the land of promise is consecrated, signifying that principle of freedom in maintaining rights and privilege, belongs to all mankind and is justifiable before me. Therefore, I, the Lord, justify you, and your brethren of my church, in referring to the law of the land, the constitutional law of the land; and as pertaining to the Law of men, whatsoever is more or less than this, that is robbery and violence; and if you free, therefore ye are free indeed, and the law also maketh you free. Nevertheless, when the wicked rule the people mourn. Wherefore, honest men and women should be taught for diligently and prudently, and men should observe to uphold, otherwise whatsoever is less than these cometh of evil. And I give unto you a commandment, that ye shall forsake all evil and cleave unto all good, which pertaineth to the law of the commandments of God." There happens to be many in this country, senators, congressmen, lawyers and judges, that feel that the war in Vietnam is unconstitutional.

There is even a law in Massachusetts that states that it is illegal to go to war, and would like to say something to another Wilson. This saying we have heard many times and now we think it applies to him. "If you don't like it leave." There are fifteen thousand students here who would like to leave. If this statement is not an example of a "ruler-versus-ruled" situation we would like to know what it is.

We are not speaking for Brian Walton or Jon Ferguson, we have never had the pleasure of meeting them. We are speaking for ourselves, people who happen to agree with another sentiment besides the one that is the most accepted one on this campus.

THINK WITH HEADSEditor:

Congratulations to those well-thinking and quick acting students who are seeking to recall our ASBYU President and Vice-President. I'm glad they could see that Mr. Walton and Jon Ferguson are obviously sociopaths who are very desperately trying to destroy the morale and image of BYU. Shame on them.

We're all proud of our happy petitioners and the job they are doing in trying to recall us of our ASBYU officers. However, I'm sure if Vicki Ferguson were here she'd be asking, "Why don't you think with your heads and not with your butts?"

"The Physics of Violins" and "A New Family of Violins" will be the topics of two lecture-demonstrations by Mrs. Carleen Maley Hutchins, an internationally known violin maker.

The physics lecture will be held at 4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 11, at Room 280 ESC. A music department lecture-demonstration will be held the next day in the Madson Recital Hall of the HFAC at 7:00 p.m. The lectures are free and the public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Hutchins by combining the sciences of acoustics, engineering and electronics with violin-making, research and musicianship, has created a considerable stir throughout the music and scientific worlds by developing and constructing a new family of eight stringed instruments whose tone and workmanship rival those of the old masters.

Her work in this field has led to the possibility that stringed instruments can be mass-produced almost as good as or better than those of the master craftsmen of the 17th and 18th centuries.

In between the giant contra-bass (standing at seven feet, it is a foot taller than the conventional string bass) and the underize "treble violin" (only 10½ inches in body length) the new string family also includes a "small bass," a "baritone

Sadie Hawkins concert cancelled

The frustration over Gary Puckett's appendectomy was enough to send Women's V.P. Terri Fisher to her knitting needles... er, Big pens. (To each his own.)

But what can you expect when you schedule a pillow concert for Friday the 13th? Doubtless it was sabotage by some scheming witch.

At any rate the scheduled Sadie Hawkins pillow concert is cancelled amid groans over SOS's sent to entertainment agents in vain. However, all is not lost. Gals still a-hankerin' to hover close to their smushed beau can do it at the Dogpatch Ballroom Saturday night, Nov. 13, in the Wilkinson Center. "The Peace and Quiet" will provide the music as couples rock out in a setting of outhouses (Oh, John, you're the most!) and stills s-s-m-o-k-i-n' with homemade lightnin'.

The price for the Dogpatch gala is $1.50 for two lovebirds. The ladyfriends in the crowd may wear dressy slacks.

'Flicks' Monday

Dick rhymes with tick, and leave it to the immortal W.C. Fields to tickle your funnybone in the hilarious "The Bank Dick" showing at the ELWC nickel flicks Monday night, Nov. 9 from 8-10:30.

A devoted goon of the local saloon, Fields supports his family by attending the movies on bank night, answering radio contests and suggesting "Honesty". He abounds when he lands his first paying job as a bank detective, complete with uniform and pistol, as a reward for accidentally capturing a bank robber.

Head for the W.C. romp and gurgle at greats your mom and dad idolized. (You ever hear of Franklin Pangborn or Grady Sutton? And what's a Una Merkel?)

Nov. 25 it's Destry Rides Again, as quiet, lanky Alvin "Alvin" Stardust tries to reform a corrupt town without using his shootin' irons. "Destry Rides Again" in what has been called a film which is probably "more representative of American film making than any other single show."

Destry has everything, as what 1939 show didn't. The setting is the rough and tough West, the hero shields a "little man" with unswerving devotion, the mild mannered men get tough when the black hats get mean, and women know their place.

And what flick would be complete unless the white hats got the chance to wallop the bad guys? It's a good old-fashioned taste of the violence we all crave and are warned against by Fanatics For An Insipid Society And speaking of craving, dig Marlene's legs! They didn't call her diamond legs for nothing.

Remember Destry for a social catharsis you'll long remember.

But Dec. 2 is THE night for the tens of thousands of coeds (especially those who walk the sidewalk on campus waiting like their mothers and grandmothers before them, for that electrifying moment when the greatest lover of the silver silent screen, the nostril-flaring, passionately panting prince of the desert, Rudolph Valentino, burns across the Arabian sands.

"The Son of the Sheik" is the blazing, turbulent tale of youthful romance and virile conflict amid the shifting exotic mysteries lurking around each Arabian sand dune.

This is the film that made Valentino famous, a fine study of the art of giving a girl a nose job. It's how to succeed as a sheik's kid by literally blowing your cool.

Russian tour

Miller film to aid center

Some of the first uncensored film taken in Siberia will be featured in an illustrated lecture to be presented by journalist Hack Miller Wednesday night on the BYU campus.

Mr. Miller's "First Look at Siberia" is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the JS Auditorium. Proceeds will be used in the fund drive for the University's new Activities Center.

Mr. Miller, who is sports editor and seasoned journalist with the Deseret News, described the Siberian tour as, "looking at the United States of 100 years ago, with some exceptions."

He went on the tour at the invitation of Lowell Thomas, and was in company with Clarence Hall, senior editor of Reader's Digest. The tour took 15 days, and all of the time was spent in Russia, much of it in Siberia.

Uniforms on campus okayed by Wilkinson

In a statement, President Ernest L. Wilkinson has authorized and invited all "who have served, are serving, or are preparing to serve in the armed forces" to wear their uniforms to the Devotional assembly on Tuesday, Nov. 10, the day before Veterans' Day.

On Veterans' Day, Wednesday, only veterans, active duty personnel, and the ROTC guard will wear uniforms on campus, Wilkinson said.

At Devotional Tuesday, seats on the playing floor will be reserved for veterans as well as for students and faculty involved in the military, whether they are in uniform or not.

The east side of the playing floor will be reserved for ROTC cadets, Angel Flight and Sponsor Corps, the west side will be reserved for active duty personnel, retired military personnel, veterans, reservists, and members

The pictures taken on this "inside Russia" tour, Mr. Miller said, include rare shots of people and places. The illustrated lecture includes excellent shots inside the Hermitage, which has been called the world's most beautiful building. It contains 2.5-million pieces of art.

Mr. Miller is one of the most traveled journalists in the country. In addition to two special tours of Vietnam, he has made three trips to Europe.

In his assignments on the sports beat he has covered three international Olympic Games, and many other major events like the World Series and the U.S. Open.

He is a retired colonel in the reserves, is former president of the United States Basketball Writers Association and is a member of the Basketball Hall of Fame committee.

of the National Guard. Those in uniform are invited to be seated at the front.

"There are twenty seven and a half percent live veterans in our nation," Wilkinson noted.

He added that when wives and children of these veterans are considered, nearly 100 million, or half the U.S. population, has been affected by military service.

"It is a sobering reality that such a great demand has been necessary from so many of our people, in order to preserve the blessings of our republic," Wilkinson continued.

He said that it is fitting that BYU students and faculty individually accord the veterans special recognition on Veterans' Day. "They have earned and deserve the continuing gratitude of their fellow citizens and others who enjoy the blessings these veterans have helped to preserve for us."

Participants may choose from several offerings. Adaptation and individualization will be made for special interests and needs.

College women gather for leadership sessions

Fifty women from the College of Eastern Utah, College of Southern Utah, Dixie College, Ricks College, Utah State University, Weber State, and Brigham Young University gathered at BYU Nov. 6 and 7 for the annual AWS State Leadership Conference.

Guests registering between 5:30-6:30 p.m. Friday were greeted with a reception and given packages and idea books in the ELWC Reception Center.

Following registration, dinner was served in the ELWC Polynesian Room after which the conference adjourned to the Riviera Apts. recreation room for games, skits and a general get-acquainted session. The film "Johnny Lingo," which evaluates the worth of a woman, was shown at 10 p.m.

The next morning it was rise and smile as the girls awoke to an early morning breakfast. Dr. Reed Bradford, professor of sociology at BYU, spoke on love and sharing at a later meeting in the ELWC Little Theatre.

After his speech, discussion groups made up of a sampling of women from each college, tackled topics of communications, a woman's role, activities, social influence, the qualities of a good leader, government, and friendship.

15,800,000 COLLEGE STUDENTS CAN'T BE WRONG

By conservative estimate more than fifteen million college students have used Cliffs' Notes since we became America's first literary study aid. This preference continues to build - for two reasons:

1. QUALITY - The easy-to-understand commentary and explanation you get from Cliffs' Notes result from painstaking work by scholars. Predominantly Ph.D.'s, these scholars are specially selected for their knowledge of particular works and their ability to make these works meaningful to you.

2. AVAILABILITY - Cliffs' Notes concentrate on giving you all the plays and novels most frequently assigned in schools. If a book is temporarily out of the title you need, ask him to call us on his special "Hot Line."

Buy Cliffs' Notes today - they're a bargain in understanding college literature assignments.

Three students in court action

Three BYU students, a sophomore and two freshmen, entered pleas of guilty last week in the Provo City Court to charges of possession of stolen goods.

The three men, who each fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in prison, the Court reported. However, $75 of the fine and the jail sentence were suspended on the condition that the students serve probation with the BYU Office of University Standards.

The cases of two other BYU freshmen, who were found guilty of petty larceny Nov. 4, are still under consideration by University Standards.

Class President over the weekend Morgan, a business administration major from Layton, Utah, was elected by slightly more than one-tenth of the 6,000-strong freshman class.

He received 691 votes to opponent Richard Johnson's 439.

The winner of the vice-presidential post was Doug Atkins of Bruneau, Idaho. He took 606 votes compared to rival Rick Ludwig's 458, and write-in candidate Dave Luggit's 39 votes.

Lara Watts, the only woman candidate, with 656 votes defeated Emery Powell for the secretary position. Powell received 414 votes.

Morgan, the presidential winner, won on a platform of helping the Freshman Class image through student government. "I think we can effectively redefine the role of the Freshman Class in the constitution by passing a by-law pertaining to freshman officers, and perhaps setting up a miniature constitution for future freshmen."

Hudspeth blasts Cats after 26-9

By WALLY RUGG
Sports Editor

Tommy Hudspeth was not a happy man Saturday afternoon. And he let his feelings be known.

The Cougars' head man ambushed his squad for their lackluster performance in the 26-9 licking at the hands of the Colorado State Rams.

"If we play like we did today, New Mexico will blow us right out of the stadium next week," said an upset Hudspeth in a post-game radio show. "We were a sorry football team today. We just don't want to play," continued the mentor.

"They outlasted us, outhit us, and just outplayed us. They wanted the ball game, and we didn't."

It was a humiliating defeat for the Cougars by a team that had managed only two wins in its first eight outings of the 1970 season.

It was the Rams first WAC conference win after 11 straight losses.

BYU HAD come on strong after a very slow start this season and had won its last two contests, over Utah State 27-20, and Wyoming 23-3. The Cougars had been favored in this one.

But the outcome was never in doubt. CSU took the opening kickoff and marched 60 yards in six plays with quarterback Wayne Smith scoring on a sweep from the two yard line on fourth down.

Falcons bomb Kittens

By CHUCK HUNGERFORD

The freshman football machine of the Air Force Academy flew into Provo Friday with a cargo of bombs and flattened the BYU Kittens with an explosive 58-7 thrashing.

The lone dropped the Kittens record to 0-2-1 for the season. Air Force is now 3-1.

It was a case of too many quarterbacks with too much talent that overwhelmed the Kittens.

Whether starter Dick Haynie, back-up man Jim Schock, or third stringer Ken Klimes was calling signals for the Falcons, made little difference. They all moved the ball.

The three Air Force field generals combined for 18 pass completions in 35 attempts, good for 322 yards and three touchdowns.

On the ground, Haynie and Klimes gained 25 and 45 yards, respectively, for almost one-third of their team's rushing yardage.

In all, Air Force quarterbacks accounted for 39 yards in the almost 540 total offense.

Meanwhile, the mistake-plagued BYU offense, going all the way with Mark Kinkead at quarterback, could muster but 10 yards total 88 rushing and 22 through the air.

Several times the Kittens looked strong penetrating the Air Force line, but whenever they got something going, an interception, fumble or mixup in the backfield would turn the ball over to the Falcons.

The game started with a bang as the Falcons took the opening kickoff and marched 71 yards in five plays with Haynie tossing the on bomb to Greg Smith for the final 51 yards in a touchdown. The extra point was kicked by Big play was a 40 yard run by fullback Lawrence "The Clutch" McCutcheon, who for the second straight year ran through the Cougar defense at will.

For the day, McCutcheon picked up 207 yards rushing in 39 carries. The 39 tries established a new WAC mark, breaking the old record of 35 carries in a conference action set by Art Malone of Arizona State.

BYU had gone into the game as the weakest offensive team in the WAC (255.2 yards per game), while the Rams were last in the conference defensively, giving up an average of 430.3 yards per game.

ON THIS DAY, the weakest defensive team easily stopped the weakest offensive team as the Rams held the Cougars to a mere 172 yards total offense—134 rushing and 38 passing.

Meanwhile, the CSU offense rolled over the Cougars for 472 yards.

BYU's Chris Farasopoulos gained almost 100 yards on kick returns and did not miss a Cougar offense. The Golden Greek added to his NCAA combined yardage record with 64 yards on two kickoffs and 63 yards on two sparkling punt returns.

Farasopoulos grabbed one Ram kickoff nine yards deep in the end zone and ran it out to the BYU 41 yard line.

Two other bright spots in an otherwise dismal day for BYU were the plays of Joe Liljequist and Dan Hansen.

Liljequist kicked off a pass to set up a field goal and continued to play consistently at his defensive end spot.

HE ALSO boomed out five punts for a 50 yard average, including kicks of 53, 63 and 75 yards.

Sophomore safety Hansen did not do his thing—intercepting passes—simply because the Rams did not throw the ball close to him all day long. All he did was make 10 unassisted and 11 assisted tackles to lead all players in the game in that department.

Only TD for BYU came on an 11 keeper by quarterback Don Griffin late in the third quarter after Farasopoulos had given the Cougars excellent field position with a beautiful 47 yard punt return.

Their effective ball carrier for BYU was 5-7 reserve-running back Pali Saluone with 56 yards in eight carries.

Saluone sprained an ankle in the ball game, as had starting running back Pete Van Valkenberg earlier.

Mincek downs Shires to capture BYU indoor tennis championship

By R.C. ROBERG
University Sports Writer

BYU's bona fide All-American Zdravko Mincek picked up where he left off in last year's National Collegiate Athletic Association's semi-finals, as the powerful Yugoslavian net ace dispensed with stubborn teammate Mark Shires in straight sets 6-3, 8-6, to capture the BYU Invitational Indoor Tennis Championship.

Mincek also was the local favorite in the All-American championship last year, bowing to Stanford's Rossow Tanner in the semi-finals, but to become the first Western Athletic Conference representative to make it into semi-final action.

Shires made it into the finals with an upset win over the University of Utah's number one singles competitor Steve Kruevitz. Shires was true to his form and consistently kept Kruevitz on the defensive in winning in straight sets 6-4, 6-3.

In a narrow drama, Shires beat Mincek and if there was a favorite Shires would have been the sentimental choice of the spectators. When there is a championship on the line, however, Mincek is seemingly at his best, and he proved it early in the first set. After breaking Shires' service in the fourth game, Mincek put the pressure on Shires with a masterful application of shots ranging from a strong forehand another pair of Cougars, Marty Hennessy and Randy Trane. Hennessy and Trane had to come from behind to down former Cougar All-American Larry Hall and newcomer Chris DeGraff in three sets 4-6, 16-14, 7-5.

Both Hennessy and Trane have been coming on strong during pre-season competition. With this victory the momentum should carry over to the Cougars next tennis encounter.

Thus with the great start that the Cougars have compiled off to this could readily be another banner year for the BYU tennis team. The spirit and determination are high in the Cougars' den.

BYU tennis Coach Wayne Pearce was quite pleased with the BYU finish and stated, "We have made added improvements on this year's team and I feel quite confident that we can improve on last year's finish, but there will be some tough opposition ahead with teams like Trinity, Houston, UCLA, USC and Stanford around. However, if we can play the type of tennis that we are capable of playing we will be right in the running for the NCAA team championship."

United edges BYU 3-2 in Soccer Tournament

BYU lost their first chance at the National Amateur Soccer Cup tournament Saturday after a 3-2 loss to United.

The Cats are now out of the National Cup competition for this year. The Nationals are a series of sudden death play-offs in which one loss completely knocks a team out of further competition. However this loss will not effect BYU's regular league games or their standing in the league.

United, in winning, will now have to win two more games in Utah, before heading off to state competition in Colorado. But if United loses one of its two remaining games, they also face elimination from competition as did BYU.

Both BYU goals were scored in the first half. The Cats held the lead for most of the half, before United tied the score at 2-2 in the closing minutes of the first half. BYU played well in the second volley to a well precisioned backhand return, winning the first set 6-3.

A second set followed and the pressure was really felt as Shires now had to get on the comeback trail, and against a tough opponent like Mincek it's not an easy task due to the relentless pressure Mincek applies, forcing his opponent into numerous errors.

Shires and Mincek matched point for point until the deciding 13th defense in which Mincek was finally able to overcome Shires and break his service. Mincek then held service to emerge the victor in BYU's first real tennis test of the year.

The double crown went to half, but could not score. United's third goal was scored in the first few minutes of the second half. United then changed its game plan, using eight men for defense, and only one for offense. The plan succeeded in keeping BYU from scoring in the second half.

The two BYU goals were scored by Horst Mastag and Carlos Cordova. Mastag, Cordova and Carlos Alvarez formed the nucleus of BYU's offense, and consistently drove the ball into United territory, but were unable to score.

Playing defense throughout the contest was rough. The mixture of snow and rain made running more like ice skating, and almost players fell down on both teams.

BYU wins following Kinni Olds and Garland Fitzgerald didn't seem at all intimidated by the mess. But people must be wondering what the weather is like in their home towns.

BYU Varsity-Freshmen basketball encounter set

Tickets for the BYU Varsity-freshmen basketball encounter will go on sale today. The price of the tickets is 50 cents for students and $1 for everyone else.

This year's BYU Varsity-freshmen contest looks to be one of the hardest fought encounters in many years. The freshmen have been steadily improving and have been impressive in early season workouts, and will be ready to do battle against the varsity, Friday, Nov. 20.

Students wishing to purchase tickets can do so at one of the three main distributing points: Cannon Center, the main desk of the Wilkinson Center, and the Cloak Room, adjacent to the Varsity Theater.

Peasants analyzed

Although Peru has begun to emerge technologically and politically into the modern world, it is a nation still bound by an archaic land-tenure system.

This situation is described in the recently published book, Lord and Peasant in Peru: A Paradigm of Political and Social Change by Dr. F. LaMond Tullis, a professor in BYU's Political Science Department. It analyzes the grassroots reform movements that are gradually changing the peasant way of life.

The book shows how the emerging social forces are related to village and national development, and includes studies of five peasant "micro revolutions" that have occurred in recent years.

Published by Harvard Press, the book is a result of original research by Mr. Tullis. He and his family resided in the mountainous area for a year while he administered questionnaires in each of the 44 villages that comprise the intercultural systems of Acolla and Chupaca, and conducted extended interviews with professionals, government bureaucrats, peasant federation and organizations leaders as well as village authorities throughout the entire central Peruvian sierra.
